Ecclesiasticus 39:1-3

“Pursuing the Law of the Most High”

¹ But he that giveth his mind to the law of the most high,
and is occupied in the meditation thereof,
seek out the wisdom of all the ancient,
and be occupied in prophecies.

² He will keep the
sayings of the renowned men: and where subtle parables
are, he will be there also.

³ He will seek out the
secrets of grave sentences,
and be conversant in dark parables.

- Are you really into the deeper things of God?
- Do you submit your mind to the law of the Most High and stay busy in its meditations?
- Do you search for historical wisdom from former generations?
- Have you tried to follow the sayings of truly successful people—that is to say, those who are successful in godliness?
- Are you constantly contemplating prophecies?
- Do you research to try to find the hidden meanings of deep and spiritual quotations?
- Are you able to hold intelligent conversations regarding mysterious parables?

Those are all efforts which are in pursuit of the law of the Most High.
